Bible Class Visits Winchester.

A special train bearing 150 members of Hazelrigg's Bible class, of this city, went to Winchester on a special train Sunday and were guests of Pendleton's Bible class of the First Christian Church. About 400 members of the First Christian Church Bible school met the train, and the host of visitors marched in a body to the church. Rev. J. H. MacNeill delivered a short and appropriate address of welcome, and prayer was offered by Rev. H. D. Clark and Dr. Harris, of this city. The day's lesson dealt with the text, "The Golden Calr," and was taught by Rev. H. D. Clark, of this city. R. C. Prewitt of Prewitt's Men's Bible class, D. L. Pendleton of Pendleton's class, and Judge J. M. Benton of "Benton's boys."

The main auditorium was occupied by the hosts and visitors, while the women and children were seated in the balcony. Following the communion service the guests were served with a delightful luncheon in the main Sunday school room. The local class returned home about noon.

The visit was made to return a similar one paid recently by the Pendleton class to the Hazelrigg class, and both occasions were very enjoyable ones.

PROMINENT COUPLE

Mr. W. C. Clay and Miss Kathryn Greene United in Marriage.

The Wedding Took Place Thursday at Home of W. R. McKee.

Thursday evening at the home of W. Reid McKee, Mr. William Caldwell Clay and Miss Kathryn Greene were united in marriage by Rev. H. D. Clark in the presence of a few relatives. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left in Mr. Clay's automobile for Cleveland where they left the machine and started on a ten days bridal tour through the East. Upon their return to this city the young couple will have rooms with the grooms parents on North Maysville street which have been elegantly furnished for their occupancy.

The wedding, while not unexpected coming at the time it did was quite a surprise to the many friends of this popular young couple.

Mr. Clay is a son of the Democratic nominee for State Senator in this district, Hon. J. Will Clay, and a nephew of Insurance Commissioner M. C. Clay, and is one of the most popular young men ever reared in Montgomery county. Caldwell Clay is one of the foremost young gentlemen in this section, has high ideals, a ready wit, is courteous to all, thereby making friends of a lasting nature with all whom he comes in contact.

Miss Greene, is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Greene, of this city, and is a general favorite in social circles. Since her debut several years ago she has been universally popular and by her gracious manner and winning disposition coupled with a graciousness of heart so lovable in our Kentucky girls has endeared herself to countless friends.

The uniting in marriage of this extremely popular and prominent young couple is of wide interest throughout the Blue Grass section where the aristocratic families of both the contracting parties are well-known and have many relatives and friends who join the Advocate in extending heartiest congratulations and best wishes that their young hearts may long remain happily coupled together and as they journey through life's pathway may they be ever joyous, knowing only the sunshine of life.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS

Ordered Here to Begin Work Right Away On Model Highway.

O. M. James and W. J. Fields Behind Movement.

Mr. Henry R. Prewitt has returned from Washington, where he went last week in an effort to induce the Government to begin work on the Maysville pike from Mt. Sterling to Sharpsburg right away. He interviewed Congressman Fields and Senator James and with their aid, succeeded in inducing the proper authorities to order two construction superintendents here at once. They are expected to arrive today and it is thought that work will start on this needed improvement without delay. Much of the work will be done by contract and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as practicable.

Nothing could be of greater benefit to Mt. Sterling, other than another railroad and the members of the Mt. Sterling Business Men's Club are entitled to lasting praise for their untiring efforts to secure this great improvement to our city and county.

One of the biggest musical productions before the public this season, and which will play an engagement at The Tabb on September 25, is the "Soul Kiss." Few musical attractions in recent years have made a better impression upon theatre-goers. If an attraction can remain in any one city any particular length of time, it must be conceded that it is a sort of an attraction theatre-goers and the public approve of. This can be said in favor of the "Soul Kiss," which has a record of three hundred performances in New York, at the New York Theatre.

DIGGS AND CAMINETTI ARE GIVEN SENTENCES

Young Men of Prominent California Families Sent Up For 24 and 18 Months.

Two years in the Federal Penitentiary on McNeil Island, Washington, and a fine of $2,000 was the sentence imposed on Muray I. Diggs, former State Architect, of California, because of his flight to Reno from Sacramento with Marsha Warrington, a Sacramento high school girl.

Eighteen months in the same prison and a fine of $1,500 was the penalty given his friend and companion, F. Drew Caminetti, son of Anthony Caminetti, United States Commissioner General of Immigration, for a like offense. Caminetti eloped with Marsha Warrington's friend, Lola Norris.

The usual motions for a new trial and for arrest of judgment were denied. Judge Van Fleet granted however, a stay of execution for ten days, during which the men will be out on bail fixed at $15,000 and $10,000 respectively, while their counsel are perfecting an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals from a writ of reversible error, which, if granted, would entail a new trial.

In designating the prison where sentence should be executed, Judge Van Fleet first named the San Quentin penitentiary, a state institution. An objection was made to San Quentin that Diggs and Caminetti would associate with housebreakers and highwaymen and the court designated McNeil Island, subject to the concurrence of the Attorney General, which he did not doubt he would obtain.

BOTH SEEM UNCONCERNED.

Diggs and Caminetti seemed unconcerned when the sentence was pronounced. A few minutes later they laughed and chatted with the newspaper men over their plight.

The mother and brother of Caminetti and the wife and father of Diggs were in court. The mother and father listened with bowed head to Judge Van Fleet's words. Mrs. Diggs stared blankly at the Judge, giving no sign that she realized what his words meant.

"This was a crime of opportunity," said Judge Van Fleet in passing sentence. "I mean that the laxity of social conditions and the lack of parental control made it possible."

Taft Rapidly Growing Thinner.

William H. Taft has lost eighty pounds in weight since laying down the cares which go with the office of President. There is nothing alarming in this, however, for it was brought about by deliberate design, and Mr. Taft still tips the scales at 240 pounds.

The reduction, though, is very noticeable. All this was observed when Mr. Taft appeared at the contest for the open golf championship. Persons who had not seen him since his residence in Washington were amazed at the change.

The former President has dropped the weight by cultivating a big appetite through outdoor exercise and then refraining from gratifying the appetite. In the mornings after his cold shower and a ride on his favorite horse, the professor sits down to his meal: One egg, two slices of dry toast, one cup of unsweetened coffee. He also spends much time on the golf links.

FOUND TIME FOR KINDLY ACT

British Statesman, in High Office, Made Glad the Heart of School-girl Who Asked Advice.

Viscount Haldane, the British lord chancellor, who is to visit Canada this summer, is not only a great legal luminary, profound theologian, and authority on German literature, but one of the most approachable of men as well. In this connection a German gentleman resident in London tells a delightful story.

"My daughter," he says, "attends a school in Hampstead. Her mistress gave her an English translation of a sentence from Goethe as the title for an essay. 'That's not in Goethe,' I said, when she quoted the words to me. 'It must be, father, or Miss ——— would never have said so.' 'Well, you ask the lord chancellor,' I said in jest; 'he knows Goethe by heart.'"

"The girl took the jest for earnest, and sent a note to the lord chancellor. By return of post came a letter from the house of lords, in which Lord Haldane presented his compliments and referred the young lady to a passage in Carlyle, where the words from Goethe might be found translated as the mistress had set them. The letter is now framed in the girl's bedroom. It was a charming act," adds her father. "I could not imagine a German chancellor deigning to answer a schoolgirl's letter."

AIRSHIP AS BATTLE FACTOR

Still Very Much of an Unknown Quantity—Much Opposition to Aerial Fleets Has Developed.

The successful operation of a machine gun mounted on the upper deck of a Zeppelin airship induces speculation as to the future of aircraft in warfare. It does not appear probable that the experiment at Friedrichshafen, Germany, have demonstrated the aerial battleships are practical. In fact, the imperfections in the construction and operation of airships are important limitations to their effective use in offensive and defensive warfare. However, the experiments revealed a portentous trend in the development of aviation. Whether the day when the fearful aerial battles of fiction will be possible is near or distant, Germany and other countries are trying to hasten that time.

Possibility of the transfer of the carnage of battle to the air has aroused opposition to the equipment of aerial fleets. To some extent this opposition is organized. It found expression at the last peace congress at Geneva, Switzerland. The delegates from the various countries favored a convention of the powers to eliminate the use of air craft in actual offensive and defensive tactics. While the congress, of course, is opposed to war, yet the use of airships for scouting and reconnoitering service was not so abhorred.

WHY HE ENJOYED IT.

Sam Bernard, the comedian, was walking down Broadway when a huge crowd attracted his attention. He joined the crowd, to find that it was watching a handful of laborers who were digging a hole in the street.

"Odd, ain't it," said the manager, "how little it takes to gather a New York crowd? Here we are, a couple of hundred of us, breathlessly watching a few men shovel dirt. By the way," the manager added, "that chesty chap in the pink shirt seems to enjoy his job. Look at the showy way he flourishes his shovel."

"Why," said Mr. Bernard, "that's Platt, an ex-actor. You see, he never played to such a large and appreciative audience before."

IT'S ON VIEW.

"Have you seen Mamie's engagement ring?"
"Of course. Did you have an idea that she was making an effort to hide it?"

"Great? Some day they'll be forming cults that pretend to understand him."

HIS NATURE.

"Quite natural, isn't it, for a ham?"

Where Land Is Cheap.

The State Journal of Frankfort, discussing opportunities for farming, says that "there is still plenty of cheap land in Kentucky off of the automobile roads."

Quite so! And that is a rattling good argument for good roads. The fertility of soil is only one of the factors in making the price of farming land. "Location" is a large factor. Formerly that meant nearness to schools, churches, markets, railroads and neighbors. Nowadays it means accessibility. A farm that is five miles from schools, churches, markets or railroads with a good road covering the distance is more desirable, and more salable, than an equally fertile farm two miles from such facilities but situated upon a poor road. And neighborhoods, in these days of motor vehicles, stretch over whole counties if the roads are good. A drive of thirty or forty miles to dinner is no more, with a good road and an automobile than a drive of three or four miles over a road that is impassable for automobiles.

The expansion of neighborhoods as a result of increased facilities for transportation is perhaps the most desirable feature of the evolution of country life. Where the roads are good a man need not buy 100 acres of land because it lies next to a farm occupied by a family that seems socially agreeable. Even if he is not driving a motor vehicle the relative prices of horse-drawn pleasure vehicles and the cheaper automobiles have awakened his interest. Before automobiles became generally used Central Kentucky was "terra incognita" to many Louisvillians who were widely traveled. Much of Kentucky, the greater portion of it, remains so because there are no good roads. Before automobiles were used one of the most attractive features of life in Central Kentucky was the neighborhood life that was made possible by roads that made a "buggy ride" of twenty miles a pleasure. When there were no electric cars nor motor cars to connect Lexington with Paris, Georgetown, Versailles, Nicholasville and other neighboring towns good roads made possible a social life that had its center in Lexington and covered the counties adjoining Fayette. There is plenty of cheap land off of the automobile roads, and it will remain cheap land till the roads are improved. — Courier-Journal.

A BIT OF ADVICE.

First---Don't Delay. Second---Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache, headache or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. In such cases the kidneys often need help.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney trouble—they are recommended by thousands. Can residents desire more convincing proof than the statement of a citizen of this locality? M. P. Lowry, 23 Taylor Ave., Winchester, Ky., says: "When I used Doan's Kidney Pills I found them very satisfactory. I recommend them for kidney complaint and backache."

The above statement must carry conviction to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask DISTINCTLY for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mr. Lowry had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

FOLLOW OUTLINE OF HOUSES

Authority on Woman's Dress Puts Forward an Idea Concerning the Hat Dear to Femininity.

Did it ever occur to you that head-gear takes on the form of houses? It is hard to account for some of the weird hats of the day by this theory, although perhaps an effort to carry out the lines of the skyscraper may be traced in the beanstalk decorations of feathers and flowers which tower skyward from our hats.

However hard to prove, this is a theory put forward by an authority on woman's dress. To understand its claim to consideration call up a picture of a medieval woman with a tall funnel-shaped headdress—the henin. Isn't it for all the world like the spire of a Gothic church? And doesn't it also suggest the peak tent where her crusading or warrior husband or brother or father spent much of his time?

Take the eastern turban for another example. It is almost like the dome of some mosque or synagogue in outline.

Another eastern example is the Chinese coolie. When he is wearing his rainy day straw hat he looks as if he had veritably donned the roof of his own straw-thatched hut.

Dome and pagoda parasols, which properly may be classed as head coverings, are evidently not alone in borrowing their outlines from buildings.

WHAT NOVEL READERS LIKE

Great Authorities Have Differed on the Subject, and the Matter Still Is Under Discussion.

That old question whether the poor prefer to read stories about themselves rather than about the rich has been revived in England and discussed by serial writers. Some believe that most readers, whether poor or rich, prefer novels dealing with a class different from their own, and some maintain that the majority of readers are more interested in their own class. Nobody knows. But something undoubtedly depends upon the novelist himself. Dickens had no difficulty in interesting everybody in the poor. Thackeray made the well-to-do and the rich interesting. So does Howells. So does Mrs. Wharton. And innumerable others.

On the other hand, Jack London, Kauffman, James Oppenheim, and possibly two or three others have sketched wonderful pictures of lowly and obscure lives. The "great American novel," which may have been written, but is still awaiting publication, will deal neither with the rich nor the poor exclusively, nor with the middle class, but with all sorts and conditions of men. It will be a novel of democracy—neither aristocratic nor proletarian.

FOR YOUR COMPLEXION.

Now comes a New York scientist and strikes a blow at the arsenic and cold creams businesses by telling us that to have a perfectly lovely complexion and white skins we must eat plenty of salt, even if we turn ourselves into walking reservoirs afterward by drinking deluges of water. And only a while ago Mary Walker or somebody else told us to eat onions for the same purposes. Still, come to think of it, we can put the salt on the onion and so follow both counselors, can't we?

PROCESS FOR PRESERVING MEAT.

A Russian army surgeon has invented a process for preserving fresh meats, which consists of dipping carcasses in a solution of acetic acid, then in a solution of common salt in glycerin, the two forming a thin, elastic, dry crust.

THE RETIREMENT OF JUDGE YOUNG.

There seems longer to be no doubt about the early retirement of Judge Allie W. Young, to accept the attorneyship of an Eastern Kentucky coal corporation, at the reputed salary of $15,000 per annum. As his friend, we have his interests too much at heart to want him not to accept this rare offer, yet we cannot contemplate his retirement without sadness.

For nearly ten years he has been our Circuit Judge and has earned for himself an enviable reputation as a jurist. A man of brilliant attainments, honest, fearless, and of wonderful personal magnetism, his return to private life will be an irreparable loss, not only to the Twenty-first Judicial District, but to all Kentucky. Officers of his caliber are so scarce in our Commonwealth that we can ill-afford to lose even one of them.

Democrats, remember the first Tuesday in October is Registration Day, and don't let your Democratic neighbor forget to register.

Don't worry, residents of Maysville street. Real work will start on your street the day following the first snow.

We extend to the ladies a cordial invitation to inspect our display of new Fall Suits and Coats. New styles are always interesting, and this fall Dame Fashion presents styles most fascinating and a large assortment of fabrics in rich coloring and pleasing design. Great Free-for-all Pace at Lexington.

The result of the free-for-all pace at Hartford on Labor Day when Earl, Jr., won in 2:03 1/4 and 2:02 1/4 after Braden Direct had taken the first heat in 2:02 1/4 (the seasons pacing record which has since been equalled by Directum I. in a winning race at Syracuse) shows that the pacers of the highest class are just rounding into form and that from now on through the season the contests amongst them will be both bitter and thrilling. But after all, Lexington will be the real battle ground for the free-for-all horses, for there the best ones will get together for the first time to do battle for the Tennessee stake, with a guaranteed value of $3000. In this race Jas. Butler's sensational young stallion Directum I., 2:02 1/4 on a half-mile track and 2:02 1/4 on a mile track, will meet the flower of the free-for-all horses; also Frank Bogash, Jr., 2:02 1/4, the Chamber of Commerce winner and a horse that is never beaten until the last inch of the last mile. In addition to these it is almost certain that Evelyn W. 2:00 1/4, that has been on the sick list part of the season but is being prepared for this one race, Hal B. Jr. 2:03, Ess H. Kay 2:00 1/4, Gold Seal 2:03, and Flower Direct 2:03 1/4 will be amongst the starters. Such a field of pacers have never been seen on the American continent and they will certainly draw a tremendous crowd to Lexington on October 8.

Tabb Opera House Thursday, September 25th.

There is every indication of a notable opening at the Tabb on September 25th, when "The Soul Kiss," one of the most successful musical comedies in years, will make its initial bow before local theatre-goers. "The Soul Kiss" has been popularly classified as the most gigantic musical entertainment ever seen inside the four walls of a theatre. Although there is a dash of daring in the title of "The Soul Kiss," yet the character of the entertainment is nevertheless one of absolute purity and inoffensiveness. The merit of the different songs and dances which are heard and seen in the performance lies in their novelty and uniqueness.

Harry B. Smith has contributed the books and lyric, while Maurice Levi has supplied one of the prettiest and catchiest scores of music heard in some time. Julian Mitchell has staged this massive production in his usual tasty manner.

Bachelor Taxes.

The idea of the bachelor tax, which in many forms has bobbed up in State and national Legislatures and elsewhere, is sentimental and rather silly. A bachelor is not always more able to pay taxes than are married men whose incomes are equal to his.

A writer for the New York Herald's voice of the people columns says truly:

"In making the exemption on the income tax $4,000 for married men and $3,000 for bachelors, an injustice is being done the single man.

"The bachelor in many cases has mother, father, sister and not infrequently a less fortunate married brother to assist."

By everyone's circle of acquaintances there are bachelors whose reasons for remaining bachelors are quite well known, although perhaps never discussed by them. A great deal is said by advocates of early marriage and large families about the selfishness of married life and the selfishness of bachelorhood. It is rather a left-handed compliment to wives and children to say that the sacrifices which the married man of moderate income must make so far outweigh the compensations of married life that married men are to be branded unselfish and unmarried men selfish. But if that were true there are in the ranks of bachelorhood many inspiring examples of unselfishness. Who does not know an uncomplaining bachelor of middle age who has for years, perhaps since the beginning of his breadwinning, contributed to the support of a widowed mother, sisters or brothers, or even a disabled or unfortunate or thriftless father? And when it is the thriftless father or the ill-provided widow, who is a pensioner upon a bachelor, who represents unselfishness? The man who married without regard to his ability to support a family, and perhaps without being willing greatly to exert himself to support a family, or the man who has stood aside, because of his inheritance of obligation, to see a more fortunate man win and marry the girl for whom he would have been glad to provide? Yet, because he has not married, and no matter why he has remained unmarried, the bachelor is to be singled out by the law as a man who can afford to contribute liberally to the revenues of his country.

The bachelor tax provision of an income tax law shows how the bosh that is popular in thoughtless talk sometimes becomes the law of the land. In a majority of cases, no doubt, bachelors are more able than married men of equal income to pay taxes. But how about the rights of the bachelor who is not more able? And these "exceptions to the rule" are numerous.—Courier-Journal.

Watching the News.

The average reader little suspects the care and vigilance that reputable newspapers exercise to verify the stories that come every day into the printing offices for publication, says the Kentucky New Era.

So many friends of patrons have axes to grind, and to gain their ends would use the paper's influence; irresponsible informants abound; and news comes through such a variety of channels before emptying itself into the sanctum that the editor must constantly guard against imposition or error.

Yet to the everlasting credit of the press it may be affirmed that truth is not stranger than fiction in newspapers. Indeed, taking into account the number of statements that a newspaper man makes in each issue of his paper, no profession has a cleaner record for veracity. If he doesn't tell the whole truth about everything he discusses, or publish all the news all the time, neither can the pastor tell everything he knows, or half that he suspects, about the brethren to whom he preaches.

And when it comes to prudence, there would be a thousand libel suits a day if editors talked in print half as carelessly and cruelly as men and women do about their dearest friends.

If the newspaper makes a mistake in an item it is generally the fault of the person from whom the news was obtained. Newspaper men, as a rule, are ever alert to keep from publishing anything that would be injurious upon any individual. It would surprise the uninitiated to know how many items go into the waste basket instead of the columns of the paper for which they were intended. Hardly a day passes that some family is not saved shame by the refusal of newspapers to publish indiscretion or escapade of one of its members. "Everybody," says Mr. Dooley, "is interested in what everybody else is doing" what's wrong," but the press is sufficiently respectable to print, very much oftener than it gets credit for, what its reader ought to know, rather than what they may want to know.

Prison Management.

Four representatives of the German Government are to visit the United States in October and November to make a study of the prison system. They will attend the annual meeting of the American Prison Association in Indianapolis, October 11 to 16, after which they will inspect the penal institutions and reform schools of ten states.

Doubtless these officials will gain some important information, and in turn will be able to offer some suggestions that will be of value to the states which they visit. The American prison system will be hard to identify, for, as a penal expert recently has asserted, it is "a very disjointed system." Every state has its particular method of running its prison business, and while there is some similarity of methods in all the states, there also is material difference in many of them.

The states have much to learn in penology. Some of them are making progress and some of them are blundering along in archaic fashion, learning little that is new and forgetting nothing that is old in prison management. Some of the states are far in advance of others. In a general sense there is improvement, but there are too many specific instances in which there is little or no improvement.

Such an organization as the American Prison Association is bound to do good. This body and others of the kind are including a larger study of penal problems. When these questions are better understood and there is more uniformity of methods the American prison system will possess more of the essentials of a real system. In the meantime there are not lacking many examples of good management which may be well worth the attention of the German commissioners.—Courier-Journal.

Some Ideal Logic.

It is affirmed that you are what you think you are.

If you think you are what you think you are you will naturally believe and think that you really think what you are.

But if you only think what you are in truth, you are more than likely to think and believe that you only think you think what you are.

If you think you are what you are not, then what you think is not what you are, and what you are is not what you think, and what you are is what you think you are not, and what you are not is not what you think you are not, but what you think you are.

When what you think you are is not what you think, you think you are what you think you are, while, as a matter of cold and hard fact, you are what you are, and not at all what you think you think you are.

So, if you truly want to be what you think you are, be sure and think only that you are just what you are, rather than what you think.

And then it must follow that if you think you are what you are, you are what you think you are.

Think it over.

TUBERCULOSIS DAY, DECEMBER SEVENTH

for First Week in December.

Churches, schools, labor unions, fraternal orders and other organizations to the number of 200,000 at least will be asked to join the anti tuberculosis workers of the country in the observance of the Fourth National Tuberculosis Day, which has been designated for December 7th, according to an announcement issued by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

The movement will be furthered throughout the country by more than 1,000 anti-tuberculosis societies working through various state organizations and the National Association. Personal appeals will be made to clergymen, school principals and leaders of various organizations urging them to set aside a definite time during the week preceding for the week following December 7th, for a lecture on tuberculosis.

Last year over 60,000 churches gave attention to this subject on Tuberculosis Day. It is hoped this year to swell the number of churches to 100,000 and to urge similar action besides in a large number of the schools and other societies. The Tuberculosis Day Campaign will come this year during the Red Cross Christmas Seal sale. It is planned to urge the churches of the county to take a definite part in this movement.

The observance of Tuberculosis Day was endorsed last year by President Taft, Cardinal Farley, Col. Roosevelt and many other prominent churchmen and public officials. Proclamations calling upon the people to observe this day were issued by governors of more than a dozen states and by the mayors of a considerable number of cities.

The Schmidt Case.

Schmidt, who murdered the simple peasant girl from Europe, who he says believed she was his wife, as a result of a marriage ceremony which the murderer says he performed, committed a crime which recalls the case of Clarence Richeson, who poisoned Alva Linnelle. The circumstances are similar save that Schmidt's effort to conceal his crime by disposing of the body of the victim gave the murder a more gruesome aspect.

There is no reason for believing that Schmidt is insane because of the fantastic story he tells about the motives that impelled the crime. He is evidently old in fraud. His masquerading as a priest while he was a counterfeiter maintaining illicit relations with a girl who believed she was his wife gave him sufficient practice to make it easy for him to tell the story he decided upon when the crime was discovered. A suggestion of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde is made by the man's attorney, who talks about a double personality, but the case seems a very plain, sordid and typical murder. Such a murder is often resorted to in an effort to get rid of a girl whose condition is such that exposure of a dual life is imminent.

If Schmidt cannot be executed there is hope for all murderers of women who have sufficient imagination to equal or improve upon Schmidt's cheap bluff about being commanded by God to commit murder and to counterfeit money.

ONE NIGHT ONLY

The Soul Kiss

Played 300 Nights at New York Theatre, New York

The engagement of "The Soul Kiss," the most successful and talked of musical comedy produced in New York last season, which comes to the Tabb on Thursday, Sept. 25 for an engagement of one night, will no doubt be termed the biggest theatrical event of the present season. "The Soul Kiss" is in two acts and ten scenes, with book and lyrics by Harry B. Smith and music by Maurice Levi. The story of the piece is inoffensive and is more consistent than is generally the case with musical comedies. At least a dozen catchy numbers, each in their way a distinct novelty, are sung throughout the two acts of this dainty musical entertainment. A well known cast of fun makers have been engaged to interpret the different roles. "The Soul Kiss," besides having splendid musical numbers, a well trained and beautiful chorus, is a most pleasing production scenically.

A treat is in store for local theatre goers in the announcement that "THE SOUL KISS," the merry musical comedy which has enjoyed a run of three hundred performances in New York, will be the attraction at THE TABB, September 25th. A competent company of fun makers have been engaged to interpret the different roles, while the chorus is heard and seen to excellent advantage in the ensembles. Throughout the unfolding of the somewhat important story, Maurice Levi has introduced musical numbers of quality which almost forces the feet to get active. Julian Mitchell is responsible for the staging of "THE SOUL KISS," which is attractive and picturesque at all times.

Emerald Ray Was Third

At State Fair.

Emerald Ray, the crack stallion owned by Mr. Ray Moss, of this county, was third in the great stake at the State Fair at Louisville last week. This was undoubtedly the greatest ring of stallions shown in many years and the Montgomery county horse had many admirers who thought he should have had the first tie. In speaking of his performance one writer said, "he was a speed marvel, in action and form, a wonder." The Missouri horse Kentucky's Best was first, Marvel King second, and Emerald Ray third, with such horses as Red McDonald, Bourbon Prince and four others out of the money. At Louisville he won over six horses the five gaited sweepstake. He has been shown 26 times this year has won 23 ties and was unplaced but once. Mr. Moss has been offered $2500.00 but declined to price his horse.

Swango Springs Hotel Burns.

The hotel at Swango Springs, of which Mrs. Hal Smith was the proprietress, was entirely destroyed by fire Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. The fire started in one of the lower rooms and in twenty minutes the building was nothing but a heap of ashes.

Two babies were asleep in the upper rooms when the fire was discovered, but were rescued by their half crazed mothers, and no lives were lost, which is considered almost a miracle, as there were about twenty-five people staying at the hotel.

The guests departed for their respective homes with only the clothing they were wearing at the time of the fire.

The building was an old frame structure with but little protection against fire. The guests lost many valuables and several found they had left their purses behind them in their flight.

Makes Splendid Showing.

The jacks and jennets owned by the Bunker Hill Stock Farm, of which J. B. Clark & Son are proprietors, made an excellent showing at the State Fair last week, carrying off a number of blue ribbons. During the season this stock has been shown at the fairs in Lexington, Paris, Louisville and Mt. Sterling and have won 14 prizes, 10 of them being first, 3 second, and 1 third. This farm has a splendid string of stock and the excellent showing made at the different fairs is quite gratifying to the management.

The Longest Day.

A retired colonel had been advised by his doctor that if he did not give up whiskey it would shorten his life.

"Think so?" asked the colonel.

"I am sure of it, colonel. If you will stop drinking I am sure it will prolong your days."

"Come to think of it, I believe you are right about that, doctor," said the colonel. "I went twenty-four hours without a drink six months ago, and I never put in such a long day in my life."—Tit-Bits.

HARDTACK IN THE NAVY.

For some years hardtack has been pretty much cut out in the navy, although it makes a fine ration for hard work and active service. Several tons have been shipped down toward Cuba. Canned beans are good to stick to a marine's ribs and to keep out the bullets, so a few gross of cases of them have been rushed on to take the place of the little old-time navy beans which have to be cooked some hours to get them soft and well done. Canned beans are pretty good for marching.—New York Press.

HABITUAL TENDENCY.

APPARENTLY PROVES CASE.

"If wars perfect the races, then the most belligerent nations should be the handsomest. But such is not the case. In fact, the contrary is true. The English are most certainly one of the handsomest people on earth. They are also the least warlike, since they alone, of all the European nations, have abolished military service."—War, by J. Novikow.

SEEKS MATE FOR MOTHER.

Setting out to find a good husband for her mother, who wishes to be out on a ranch, "away from the city," is the task a young woman of Kansas City, Mo., has set for herself. She has written a letter to the mayor asking him to have it published in helping on the work she has undertaken, expressly with her mother's consent and approbation. Her letter follows: "I have a mother and I want to find a good husband for her. She has two daughters, one eighteen years of age and the other one seventeen; one son, fourteen. She is a good housekeeper, neat and clean, and the man must have a home and plenty to provide for her. She has made so many wishes to be out on a ranch some place away from the city, and I asked her if I would find her a good husband, if she would have him, and she said 'Yes.' So I thought I would advertise for her. She dresses nice and pretty. Any man writing in answer to this must send photograph."

GREED CAUSED SNAKE'S DEATH.

A snake in search of food at East St. Kilda, near Melbourne, Australia, writes our correspondent, came upon a chicken's egg. The snake sucked in the egg, which passed towards the region of his tail in the form of an oval swelling. The snake then raised its head and, perceiving a knot-hole in the wooden henroost wall, inserted its head and the fore part of its body and swallowed a second egg.

On the approach of the owner of the henroost the snake tried to retire, but the second egg would not pass through the knot-hole, and when he tried to advance the egg in his tail equally impeded his progress. Thus "egg-bound" at both ends, the reptile fell a victim to its own greed.
